Our market vendors can only sell handmade or home-grown products. Factory-made products are not permitted, and imported products must be approved beforehand.

Products should not contain depictions of commercialized characters or symbols (for example: Nike, Pikachu, Spider-man).

2. All-ages messaging:

Products must use appropriate and respectful language, avoiding profanity, vulgarity, hate speech, discrimination, and violent content. Symbols or imagery associated with hate groups or offensive entities are prohibited. Explicit sexual content is not allowed, though tasteful artistic representations of the human body are permitted. Products should not promote or glorify illegal drugs, alcohol, or tobacco use.

3. Cultural Appreciation:

Products must not appropriate cultural elements in a disrespectful or trivializing manner, including traditional clothing, symbols, artifacts, or practices from cultures the vendor does not belong to. Vendors should educate themselves about the origins and significance of cultural elements they wish to use and seek permission or collaborate with members of the culture when appropriate. Products should honour and respect the cultures they represent, avoiding stereotypes or reductive portrayals.

4. Language and messaging:

Should a vendor wish to sell products with messaging written in English at our bilingual market, they are encouraged to translate their messaging to the beautiful French language.

A vendor wishing to translate their products are encouraged to submit their translation for validation with the Market organizers. Google Translate is a helpful feature but often misses nuances and struggles to translate expressions adequately. Our teams would be thrilled to support vendors wishing to expand their product lines with French messaging.

All vendors are encouraged to submit pictures of their products while applying to be a vendor. The Market organizers are here to help ensure all products align with these content standards.

A vendor with beginner level French is encouraged to practice their skills at our market! Please make sure to send French-speaking staff to work your booth if possible.
